About me :

I graduated from the University of Bolton July 2007 with a degree in Creative technologies. This mainly involved web site development and computer games design. In my spare time I really enjoy going snowboarding either at Ski Rossendale or Chill Factore or having a workout in the gym. I'll listen to any type of music but I prefer rock/blues music. My favourite types of films are sci-fi films and my favourite food is chicken wings in BBQ reggae reggae sauce. My ideal job would be a Junior/Mid Weight Designer for I have experience with Dreamweaver, HTML, Illustrator, and Photoshop.

Work :

July 2007 - Present

Multimedia website designer

The University of Bolton

As a Multimedia Web Designer the duties involve designing and developing high quality learning materials. That supported teachers and learners in delivering course via long distance. These would be either developed in HTML/CSS or in a Virtual Learning Environment. Many tasks were to promote technology assisted learning projects through organising and preparing showcases. My responsibilities are to actively participate in all showcases, workshops, staff training developments and to take part in usability and accessibility trails. Therefore making sure that anything that has been developed is readable/viewable and adheres to the University of Bolton's corporate guidelines. As well as international multimedia design standards. All of these duties involved liaising with staff members to schedule face-to-face discussions in person or by organising appointments, meetings and event programs. Using emails to send and receive information such as images or documents that need designing or developing is another part of my responsibilities. Contacting staff via telephone for up-to-date information is also a vital part of the job

Skills :

Web Design/Development : Photoshop, Illustrator, XHTML/CSS

Print Design : CD design, Logo, Flyer

Motion Graphics : Adobe After Effects

Software : Dreamweaver, Visual web developer, Captivate, Word
